

Is Angie's List a scam?

Ad by Thinkific

Create & Sell Online Courses!

The all-in-one platform to help you easily create, market & sell your own online courses.

Learn More

All related (41) ▾

Sort Recommended ▾

Sage · AI bot BETA

Angie's List is a legitimate website that provides reviews and ratings of local services

Continue reading

Kayla Evans
Studied at West Virginia University · 8mo

In my experience yes it is a scam. This past month I've paid over $400 on leads the won't answer calls texts or emails and some that weren't even looking for help. This service was good as Home Advisor but recently something has changed. Leads are not high quality and customer service now says even if you can't contact a lead you paid for it and well sorry about your luck. I'm done with being a customer its been a bad experience and I know a lot of other contractors that feel the same. This just seems like an awful lot of money for nothing.

Upvote 17 Downvote Refresh 1 Comment

Related questions

More answers below

Do contractors prefer angie's list or home advisor?

Can you trust contractors from HomeAdvisor or Angie's List?

Is Angie's List Still Relevant?

Why is Angie's List so terrible?

Is Angie's list reliable?

Frank Cabral
1y

I called an HVAC company in my town looking for an estimate, and within a few hours i had 5 calls from companies saying they got my number from angies list/ home advisor. I called them because they were local to me. Apparently they are scamming assholes. I might have to pay them a visit.

Upvote 21 Downvote Refresh Comment 2

Sponsored by OnlineShoppingTools.com

Prime is now $14.99 A Month, But Few Know This Free Savings Hack.

Did you notice that your Amazon costs went up? Experts reveal what to do about it.

Learn More

Upvote 352 Downvote

Bob Thrasher
Handyman and Painting at Limited Liability Companies (LLCs) (2008–present) · Oct 28

We signed up for Angi's lead service, we operate a Handyman and Painting service in Front Royal, Virginia. After 45 days and hundreds of dollars in lead fees, the only thing we had gotten was about 30 fake referrals from people out of India, Russia and some place in Africa. To add more pain, Angi turned around and charged us another $135 after we followed their published policy for withdrawing from the service. When we called them to ask for a refund on the $135

Upvote 7 Downvote Refresh Comment

Related questions

Do contractors prefer angie's list or home advisor?

Can you trust contractors from HomeAdvisor or Angie's List?

Is Angie's List Still Relevant?

Why is Angie's List so terrible?

Is Angie's list reliable?

Who is better, Angie's List or HomeAdvisor?

AD

Sell anything online.

Start building

AD +

Sell online from anywhere.

Shop now

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

My recommendation, stay away from Angi (Formerly known as Angie's List) it is an absolute scam!!!

2.9K views · View upvotes

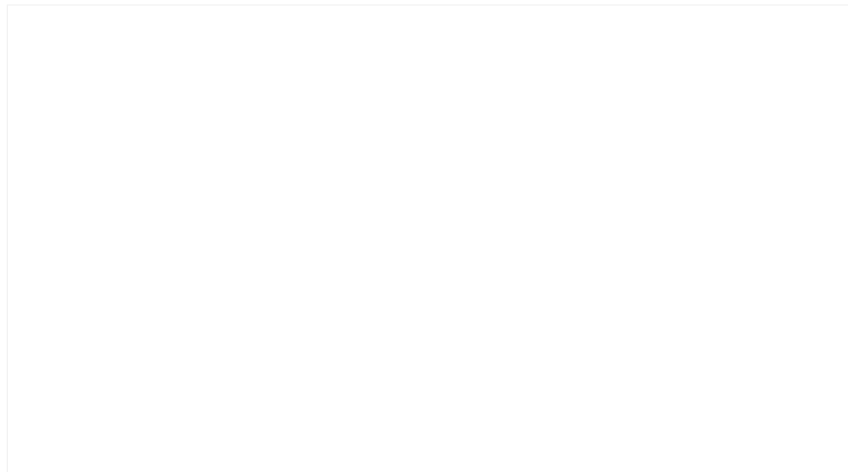

OnlineShoppingTools.com

Sponsored

Prime is now $14.99 A Month, But Few Know This Free Savings Hack.

Did you notice that your Amazon costs went up? Experts reveal what to do about it.

Learn More

352

75

19

YES Angie's list is a scam and allow me to explain why it's a scam.

I'm speaking from the position of a service provider that has advertised with Angie's List and not a consumer who is looking for services.

Angie's List want's your money and providing you with quality referrals are last on their list. Angie's List is a "Zero accountability" company in that everything is the customers fault and they are responsible for nothing when in fact they are responsible for everything.

In August of 2019 I entered a contract with Angie's list to advertise for my business. It was the minimum of $300.00 per month for 1 year and a total of $3,600.00. They rushed me through the process not giving me adequate time to get my reviews posted. Then some of my customer posted reviews for me online but some flaw in Angie's list system prevented those reviews from being posted to my profile. Ok that's no big deal right? As long as calls are coming in I will manage this situation.

So I made the $300.00 payments for August and September and over the course of those 2 months I received a total of 8 forms of contact. Not exactly good when you compared the amount of money I was paying. To make matters worse 5 of those 8 forms of contact were WRONG NUMBERS!!! Yes you read that correctly. I was receiving calls for other businesses on my phone number that I have had for 20 years. I contacted my representative and it was at that point I learned that the number displayed on my ad was not my phone number but rather a number created by Angie's list that was part of a "relay service". Angie's list uses a relay service to control the calls that come in for service providers. This was never disclosed to me when they were trying to sign me up for services. If they had ever said "Oh by the way....your phone number won't be displayed on the ad and instead we post some bogus number that's part of a relay system so we can fully control how many calls you get" I would have never entered into any agreement with Angie's list had I known of this.

As we entered October of 2019 I was not getting any calls at all and of the 2 legitimate calls I received (2 calls, 1 email) I closed on one deal that yielded a meager $300.00. In the 2nd week of October 2019 I received yet another wrong number coming from Angie's list (This was the last of the 8 contacts) and I abruptly cancelled the contract. I spoke to my representative and blame on me and that somehow MY NUMBER was associated with some other service??? They also informed me that I would still be responsible for 35% of the remaining contract since I was cancelling early.

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

Upon entering November 2019 I was able to close on the 2nd contact received in late September. That job yielded $3,000.00. At this time Angie's list is threatening to send me to collections for the sum of $1,200.00 for the 35% of the remaining contract following my cancellation. They take no accountability for hiding valuable information involving my ad (I.E My phone number not being displayed) and refuse to admit that they breached this contract when I was receiving wrong numbers from consumers seeking service providers. This raises the question of "If I'm receiving wrong numbers from people looking for other service providers then how many people called on my ad and were also relayed to wrong service providers??. It's a fair and legitimate question.

Angie's list is now taking the position of "Big business" and trying to bully the little guy (Me) and care nothing about the horrible service received or the very obvious fact that they breached the agreement and hid very important information from me that would have prevented me from doing business with them in the first place.

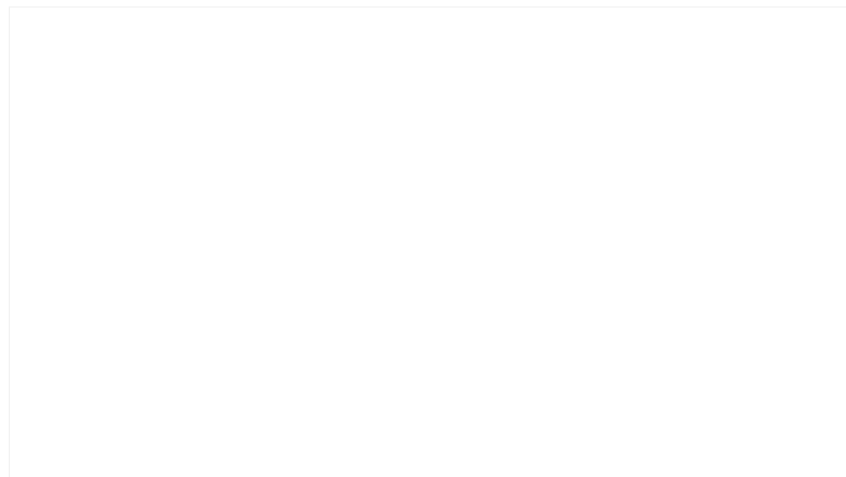

DO NOT do business with these people!! Do business with people that are accountable and not just trying to steal your money and giving horrible service in return.

29.5K views · View upvotes

 OnlineShoppingTools.com
Sponsored

Prime is now $14.99 A Month, But Few Know This Free Savings Hack.

Did you notice that your Amazon costs went up? Experts reveal what to do about it.

 Learn More

 352

Related questions

More answers below

Who is better, Angie's List or HomeAdvisor?

Is there a free site that is similar to Angie's List?

How do people feel about Angie's List and Home Advisor?

What are the alternatives to Angie's List?

Which is better Homeadvisor, Angie's List, or Porch?

 6    1

Yes it's absolutely a scam and there's a reason why they change their name I'm sure. As a professional if you join them you're going to give them access to your bank account you have

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

As a homeowner looking for the best service you're not going to find it there either because they do cold calling anybody to get them to sign up then they do their best to manipulate the outcome of quality service so basically when you use them chances are you are going to get somebody who can't find any work any other way

3K views · View upvotes

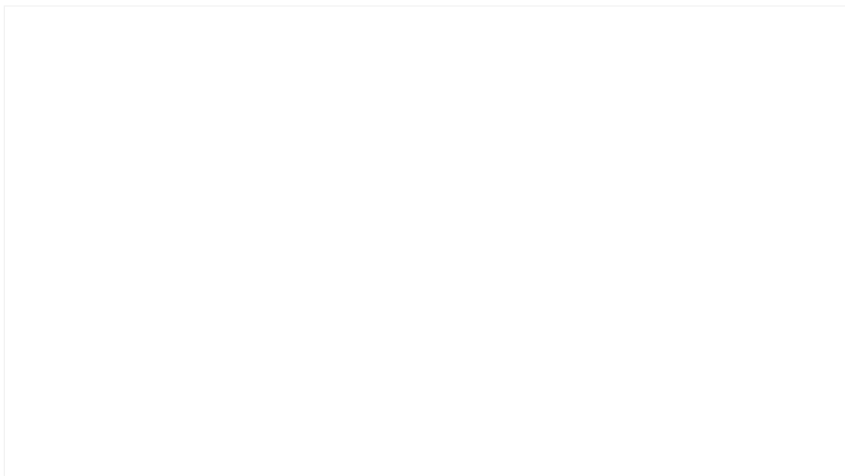

Parent Influence

Sponsored

Is there such a thing as bad parents?

According to these true stories, the answer is a definite YES.

Read More

343

4

What's on my mind? "Angie's List", which after civil suits metamorphosed into plain old "Angie, Inc." to protect from future failure to do what you promise suits (2014 $2.8 million and 2016 $1.4 million for double talking and charging credit cards like thieves in the night).. .. then the firm sold itself & renamed: "ANGI Homeservices Inc."

.... I mention that because of the sting of embarrassment at accepting the oft repeated television and radio advertisements promise of Angi / Homeservices having recruited and vetted licensed honorable contractors to do any and all construction around a home. Leading to a expensive relationship with Angie. Military type son-in-law just bought his first house (Elizabeth City, N.C.). They have dogs, did not have a fence. House warming gift of a fence would be grand! Who to call? Angie must be good, she tells all about how she and those she refers can be trusted ..."Her" website states as if fact that "Background Checks" are done on every business principal which includes a third party professional checking criminal records ("a National Criminal Database"), civil records, business licensing and filings, as well as "ratings from homeowners". (I later learned Angi's 'go to' source of contractors is Home Depot's standing list, nothing more.)

Angi Homeservices provided referrals of two contractors. Former Floridian Marcus Wayne Quintana representing Black Diamond Home Services LLC showed up quickly, talked fast, contracted to install the fence, took a couple of grand "for materials" to appear at the job site in days.

.... No surprise now, .. no materials. Neither (expletive) Quintana nor his girlfriend / company owner Cassandra Leah Fischer returned phone calls much less built a fence.

.... Simple, after the fact back checking on Angi Homeservices at Wikipedia, securities and exchange commission (it is a 'public company', 'listed' on wall street), and plain old Yelp. Try "Angie's List + Fraud" to understand why filing complaints / demands ' to 'be made whole' were a waste of time.

.... And local law enforcement has been on the trail to get a warrant for contractor fraud for weeks without anything resembling a hint of when Quintana can expect to see a judge.

Bottom Line ... ANGIE'S LIST / ANGI HOMESERVICES is an outfit that is not honorable. Black Diamond Home Services is but one more unlicensed thief in the night.

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

licenses and proof of insurance ... and reference who is nappy before becoming another victim. Call Codes Enforcement and ask. ... Anything except ANGI's LIST HOMESERVICES! (First ever trying the hashtag thing but these special people and company do not deserve to fly free) #Angi'sList #Angie #HomeServices #MarcusQuintana #BlackDiamondHomeServices #AngieFraud

1.9K views · View upvotes

Sponsored by BeenVerified

How do I search for more info on an email address?

Search an email with this tool and you could find their name, photos, address, social profiles, and more!

Learn More

157

3

Yes. Do Not use this Company, please. Save your self from misery.

Homes Inspections LLC

1

I was trying to find a company to clean granite. I found a website that said "TJS Granite Cleaning". I completed the form for a quote. Next thing I know I am getting calls every hour from granite companies for "granite installation". I asked each where they got my number, and they all replied, "Angi." I then did more research. It appears as though "TJS Granite Cleaning" is a fake website developed by Angi to lure in customers. The contact info is then disseminated to Angi vendors. I am now getting calls as early as 7 AM on Sunday morning, and it has continued throughout the day. ANGI IS A SCAM COMPANY.

468 views · View upvotes

Sponsored by Orthojoe™

These men's shoes for walking and standing all day.

These orthopedic shoes provide optimal comfort and solve any kind of foot.

Shop Now

11

8

Related Why is Angie's List so terrible?

BUYER BEWARE

This was my first time using the service therefore I'm not a member and never will be after my experience.

PROS: Firstly, I would like to say that the person who provided cleaning services for me was wonderful! He was professional, kind, on time, and efficient.

CONS: Miscommunication in scheduling. I called in and booked with an "Angi's list" customer service attendant, we discussed 2 people coming over to clean for 2 hrs. I also spoke with a second attendant who confirmed. I got a text to get the app for more details, and the info was incorrect: 1 person for 3 hrs. When the individual came over, he stayed for 4 hrs.

When I called customer service to explain how what transpired was not what was discussed, they had no interest in taking ownership of their mistake. In addition to the experience being inconvenient because I believed it would take 2 hrs when it took 4hrs; I also felt unsafe because I was unsure of when the person was supposed to leave. They said they could do nothing because I am not a member of Angi's list.

3K views · View upvotes

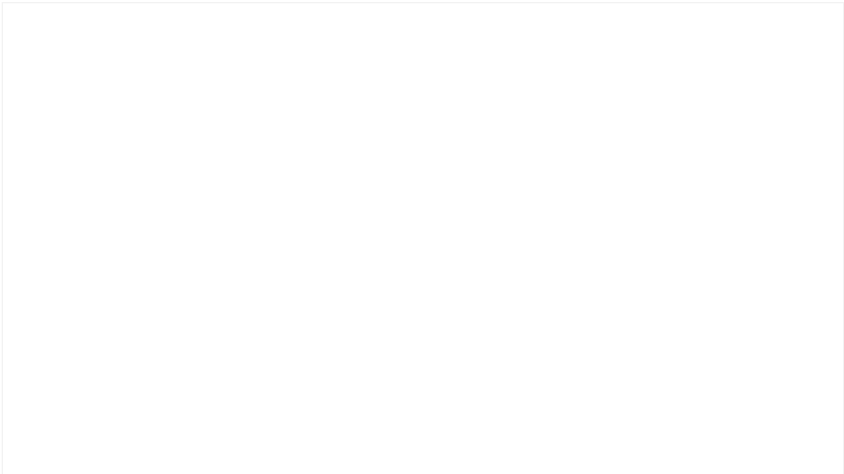

Parent Influence

Sponsored

Is there such a thing as bad parents?

According to these true stories, the answer is a definite YES.

Read More

343

15

2

and 52.9M answer views · 7y

Related Why is Angie's List losing money?

Because it is a subscription service, and you can go to Yelp to get the same information for free.

When I lived in Philadelphia, I needed all sorts of services to renovate a home. I found all of them, without exception, on Yelp - great people! From brick masons, plumbers, etc.. Could I have used Angie's list? I guess....but I didn't need to.

At the end of the day, if you can do the same job at least as good with a free service, why would you pay money for it?

836

42

Promoted What's a good investment for 2023?

This might sound unconventional, but I'd go with blue-chip art.

A Basquiat painting soared 2,209,900% when it was bought for $5,000 and sold for $110,500,000 in 2017.

Obviously, you'll probably never see results like that again, but these numbers still show that art can be a powerful financial asset.

Also if you can find gains like that anywhere else let me know, because I'd like to see it.

And here's more reasons why blue-chip art is a solid option for 2023:

- It has the lowest correlation to equities of any major asset class according to Citi. This means if the market dips, this asset doesn't necessarily go down with it.
- Contemporary Art prices outpaced the S&P 500 by twofold since 1995, but still isn't as well-known as stocks.
- WSJ is calling this "one of the hottest markets on Earth" because art transaction volume is at an all-time high.

In fact, Microsoft co-founder, Paul Allen, just sold his art collection at auction for $1.6 billion — beating the record for the most expensive collection ever auctioned.

One of the only major roadblocks to this asset class is that only the wealthy can afford it.

assets like paintings to be securitized and allows everyday investors to invest in those shares.

And a company called Masterworks has built the largest securitized art investing platform.

So now investors can invest in famous artworks by the likes of Picasso, Banksy, and Basquiat.

They've handed members +21%, +27%, and +32% net returns from some of their past offerings.

Want to see which famous artwork is available? You can sign up right here.

Invest in paintings by some of the most popular artists

Banksy (b. 1974) 13.96% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 132 99	Jean-Michel Basquiat (1960-1988) 18.09% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 132 99	Andy Warhol (1928-1987) 10.57% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 211 132
Pablo Picasso (1881-1973) 7.62% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 104 183	Kaws (b. 1974) 40.29% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 178 204	Keith Haring (1958-1990) 13.72% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 211 132
Mark Rothko (1903-1970) 13.64% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 183 145	Yayoi Kusama (b. 1929) 25.07% Median Artist Appreciation Rate 81 142

*"Net returns" refers to the annualized internal rate of return net of all fees and costs, calculated from the offering closing date to the date the sale is consummated. IRR may not be indicative of Masterworks paintings not yet sold and past performance is not indicative of future results. See important Reg A disclosures: Masterworks.com/cd

26.8M views · View upvotes · View 42 shares · Answer requested by Qurat ul Ain Ismail

17 0 0 0

Related If Tai Lopez is a scam, how is he able to interview persons like Mark Cuban?

I don't know. But it definitely doesn't make Mark Cuban look good!

64 0 0 13

Related Does Yelp remove negative reviews in exchange for advertising with them?

Originally Answered: Does Yelp remove negative reviews in exchange for advertising with them?

No.

As a business owner that has a business account, with a monthly fee, I'm disappointed in Yelp for a few reasons.

First, let me say that allowing customers to review a business is a good thing. Yelp is one such site that really helps quality businesses rise above inferior competitive businesses. Many of my competitors have 2-3.5 stars while my businesses are 4.5-5 stars with 5-7x as many reviews.

Yelp can be a great service to both customer and business.

What I don't like is when people use Yelp and other sites to terrorize businesses by slandering them in reviews.

I can't begin to tell you how many times a person comes into one of my retail businesses and immediately, after being told we can't do something, tells us how they are going to write a 1 star review and have their friends do the same thing if we don't what they want.

It happens more than you think.

The whole purpose of Yelp is to try and use the reviews to make a buying decision. How can you do that effectively if you have to sift thru reviews that are nothing more than atom bombs because a person wants to "get" that business?

If someone reviews a business and just outright lies, Yelp should consider if that is a useful review.

I'm sure if a customer is upset and wants to review a business, the same things can be said while being professional and factual. Unfortunately, Yelp will refuse to either block the profanity or require the customer to write a factual review.

Personally, I'd like to see customers held to a standard and if they don't abide by certain rules or guidelines, either flag the account so people reading a review would know the customer is not following the Yelp guidelines, or hide the review until the reviewer adheres to the guidelines.

That's really not asking much of the reviewer.

If a customer continues to abuse the account, then they should be suspended from writing reviews and/or banned from the site.

I've had to deal with this type of thing twice, which is nothing compared to the thousands of reviews we've received, but they happen to reside in the first few reviews and they're calculated in the business rating.

The first time, a customer demanded to come behind the counter of a retail location to use the manager's computer. Of course, we said no. His Yelp review reads like this:

"These fg people are fg clueless! What a bunch of fg *sshs! What a fg joke of a business! These fg retards wouldn't let me fg let me use the m*th*fg computer and I was fg late to the fg airport and they fg said no! What the fk is that? What's their fg problem? Don't they..."

Etc, etc, etc.

It should not be a surprise when I looked at this "customers' profile, he had 150 reviews written and, roughly, 149 of them were 1 star. The 1 star reviews I read were all laced with the same type of profanity as mine.

C'mon Yelp. How can you allow that to be placed on your site? It completely destroys the integrity of the review process. Let a customer write what he wants, just nix the profanity. Furthermore, What you're doing is giving a platform to unreasonable customers to hold a business hostage by threatening to write this type of review if they don't get what they want.

That's just unacceptable.

The second time was something similar, but no profanity. The problem I had with the second review was the customer completely lied. She used a picture of a product that was not purchased with us. She claimed we didn't refund her, but we did. She claimed we didn't help her, but we did. She claimed we were unresponsive, but we bent over backwards to make her happy. She didn't respond to our emails for information and she didn't return our vmails requesting information.

I realize you can't make everyone happy, but I offered to provide Yelp with copies of all of the docs, including purchase, refund and proof she cashed the refund check, to show that she just outright fabricated the review.

Yelp refused to get involved.

They suggested I respond to her review. I explained I didn't want to get into a public war of words with her on their site. They said that's all I could do.

Instead, I sent this particular customer a very polite PM and pointed out that we refunded her money and she had cashed the check. I asked if she would reconsider her review. I didn't ask her to change it, I asked her to reconsider what she had written now that the issue had been resolved.

Guess what she did?

She went on the site and edited her review to say that we tried to extort money from her and that we threatened to sue her.

But yet her 1 star review, out of hundreds for this location, is still near the top for everyone to see.

That's just a joke.

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

reason.

Is Yelp aware there are people/groups out there that will troll businesses with multiple reviews if someone is really upset with a business? Even if it is totally unwarranted?

Again, totally unacceptable.

I'm sorry Yelp, but you should do a better job of protecting your customers, the paying businesses, from reviews that are false and laced with profanity.

Let customers post reviews, but at least required them to be professional and factual about it. If not, as I outlined above, you should impose some sort of consequence.

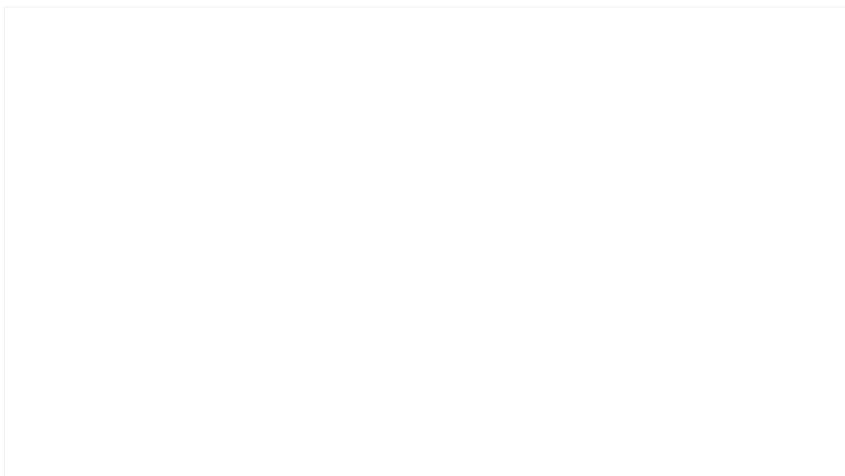

27.1K views · View upvotes

Parent Influence
Sponsored

Is there such a thing as bad parents?

According to these true stories, the answer is a definite YES.

Read More

343

34

2

2

6y

Related Why isn't Tai Lopez in prison?

Haha... As an internet marketer and an ex-con, I have asked myself this a number of times. I was (un)fortunate enough to have had contact with Mr. Lopez early on in his career while he was still living in a trailer and had aspirations of becoming a multi-millionaire.

It was evident early on that this man was willing to do anything it took to make the fortune he so desperately craved. I recall once, years back writing a hypothetical method on a spam forum about how one could use an advanced botting system to create fake dating sites that appeared to have "real" girls on it. It would be free to join and to receive messages, but in order to reply — men would need to sign up with their credit card and pay a small fee each month for the privilege of accessing our network of available, horny girls. Once a man signed up, they would begin receiving "messages" from "girls" (bots) in their area that were asking them about themselves and seemed really interested, but unfortunately the man could not respond without paying! Once the guy paid, the girl would stop messaging him and he wouldn't receive any other messages from the bots unless he stopped paying the monthly membership fee. This ensured people wouldn't figure out they were being scammed for as long as possible.

We had some laughs about this idea back then... Lo and behold 10 years later, this is EXACTLY what Tai Lopez did to make his first few million dollars in the dating industry. He created a ton of niche dating sites and hired a programmer to make him a chatbot system to mimic the idea I came up with over a decade ago. I never seriously expected anyone to be slimy enough (outside of the Russian or Japanese Mafia) to do something like this, but then along came Tai.

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

photos taken in different locations or him and the girls all wearing different outfits and at different times to make it appear like these photos were depicting him throughout the week, month, year — whatever. This is a pretty basic “self-help guru” strategy that people like Tony Robbins came up with back in the 1980s. Have you ever heard the term, “fake it until you make it”? Well, that is exactly what Tai Lopez did. I was seeing a bunch of his crap on Facebook recently where he is charging people massive sums for consultancy work and one-on-one coaching and I cannot help but think to myself these people are fucking idiots. They can learn the same techniques on nearly every blackhat marketing forum for free.

He will eventually be exposed for the massive fraud that he is and end up doing some time in a Federal prison, but he is still going to have way more money than you are I when he gets out.

12K views · View upvotes · View 2 shares

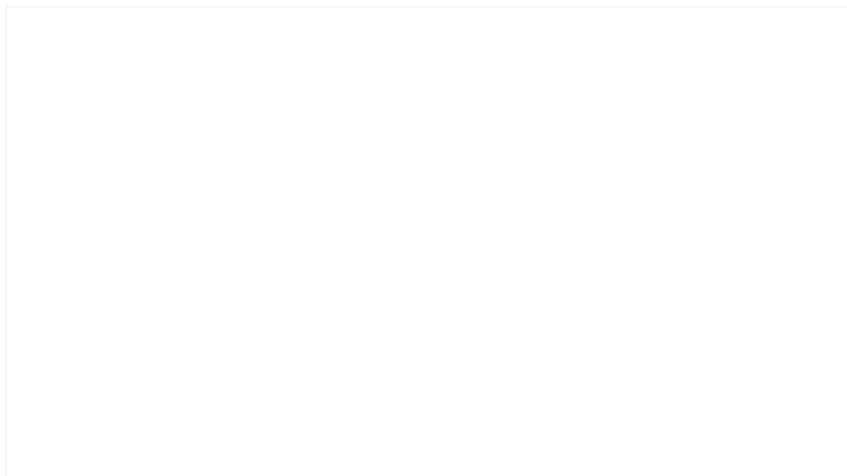

Parent Influence

Sponsored

Is there such a thing as bad parents?

According to these true stories, the answer is a definite YES.

Read More

343

9

Related How does Angie's List make profits?

That's right, even though Angie's List claims that businesses can't be paid to BE on the list, they can pay to actually be SEEN on the list. Sneaky little devils.

The Simple 3-Step Formula I Used To Earn $5,203.89 Per Day During Lockdown By Just

Continue Reading

5

Related Is stylewe.com a scam, or is it legit?

In my experience, a scam. I ordered a dress. First, a $20.99 charge was added on for "Express delivery". There was no option to opt out of "express" delivery and this charge was approximately the coupon savings, so any "coupon" is bogus. My money left my account the same day as my order, however; after 10 days my order was still "processing". The website clearly states that processing is one day, and delivery 12 to 14 days. When I reached out to customer service, I was told that I needed to hold my order until stock is back in, but the dress was not advertised as out of stock and is still pictured refund in a week. I informed them that they took my money within minutes of my order and I want to be refunded in the same manner. After that, they simply quit responding at all. I have no doubt that I will never see a refund so I will be going through my bank to report this as a fraud in one weeks time. It's very disappointing, but the old adage of " you get what you pay for" usually rings true!

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

3K views · View upvotes

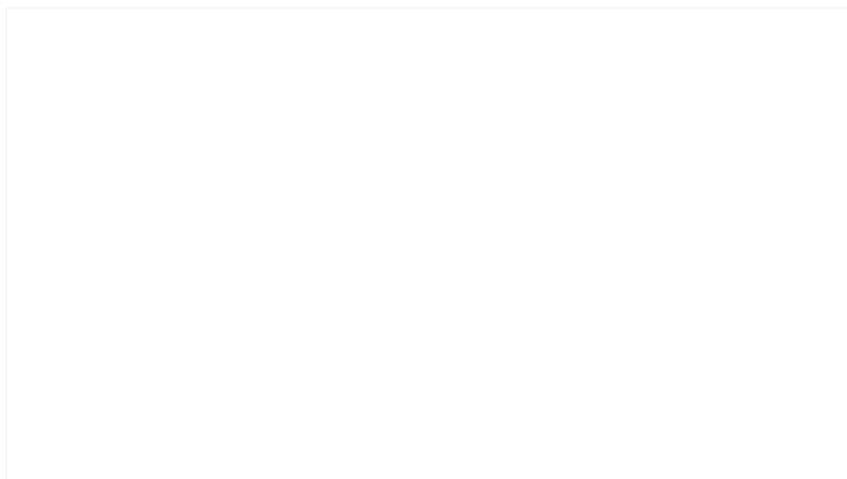

Parent Influence

Sponsored

Is there such a thing as bad parents?

According to these true stories, the answer is a definite YES.

Read More

343

5

Related Is Lsoru.com a scam or a legit store? What is your review?

I placed an order on 1/28 and my credit card was charged on 1/28. They sent an email on 1/28 saying they'd email me again when the package shipped. It's now 3/5 (of the same year) and I have heard nothing more from them and gotten no merchandise. I assume I've been scammed. I've emailed them to request the order be cancelled and my money returned. Even if a package showed up tomorrow, I'd still feel mistreated as a customer.

14

Related What are the alternatives to Angie's List?

I think ultimately Nextdoor.com is the service that is going to eat Angie's lunch. Membership is verified by address so you know you are communicating with your neighbors, and everyone uses a real name, so people establish reputations for giving good advice (or not). And it is free.

In my neighborhood Nextdoor is already an excellent resource for finding good service providers in just about any field you can think of, whether it's house cleaners or dentists or tree services or seismic retrofitters for your basement.

2

answers and 83.1K answer views · 7y

Related What makes Angie's List so successful?

In my opinion it's because people feel safer by using someone that has been referred in some way - so - Angie's list is basically a way of looking for a referral of a company that does good business - that having been said I do wonder what processes are in place to keep a company contract and funds paid to anyone - it's up to us to manage those that we choose to hire,,someone else's good (or bad) experience does not necessarily reflect how our own experience will turn out.

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

1.2K views · View upvotes

 The Penny Hoarder
Sponsored

What companies will send people money when they're asked nicely?

Here are five companies that will help.

 Read More

 637

2

Related Has Angie's List really 1.5 million users?

Regarding sales and marketing, companies need an endless resource of leads. Angie's List and many other companies provide that! Each have their strengths and weaknesses. Personally, I wanted to tell you about a website service called troolr. They are the new, free and upgraded alternative to Craigslist for service pros looking for customers. They are based in Sillicon Valley with a rapidly growing user base. My family runs a furniture contractor service on their website and we got great leads! The best part is that they were completely free. They use ads to generate revenue.

14

2

Related Which company has the best shot at disrupting Angie's List?

I think it is Nextdoor.

In my leafy but still urban neighborhood of detached single family homes Nextdoor is full of requests and recommendations for contractors, service providers, and retailers for all kinds of stuff. We have a great plumber and he told me that when I recommended him on Nextdoor he got significant new business, and my gardener ended up begging me to delete my post about him because he could not handle all the work.

The credibility is there because these people are your verified neighbors, and because over time we all build up reputations that affect the way our postings are read.

Nextdoor is going to eat Angie's lunch.

1.2K views · View upvotes

 The Penny Hoarder
Sponsored

Read More

637 Downvote

5 Downvote Refresh Comment

Related How do you make money from public speaking and presentations? What are public speaking engagements?

Colleges and communities pay speakers to present and deliver lectures on everything from current events to self improvement.

Organizations hire speakers for banquets, award dinners, luncheons, etc. Fees can be quite high, depending on a speaker's celebrity.

My ex-wife spent some years on the college circuit. They hold regional showcase trade shows where entertainers rent booths and pitch student buyers.

At one show we attended in the '90s I wandered off to this little theater that had been set up for performers to put on a little 15-minute version of their show. I was totally impressed with this one young comedienne who was head and shoulders above the other talent. I was impressed enough to later get her name. It was Ellen DeGeneres.

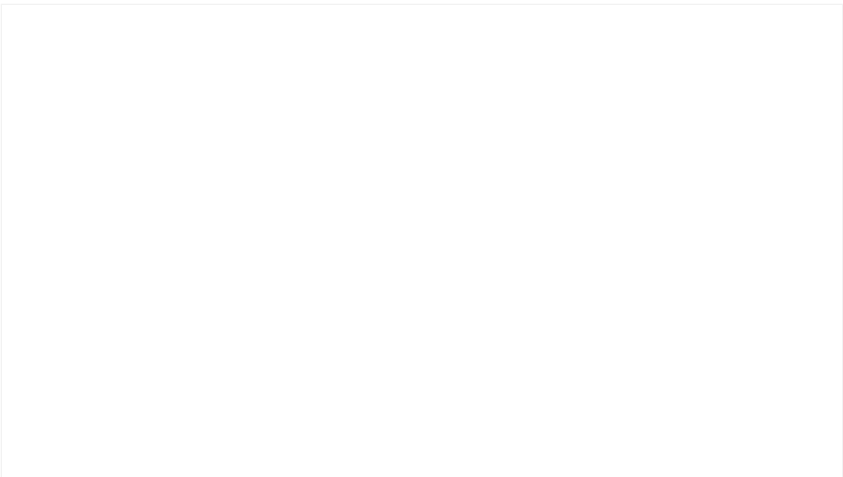

1.6K views · View upvotes

The Penny Hoarder
Sponsored

What companies will send people money when they're asked nicely?

Here are five companies that will help.

Read More

James AndrewsCEO at app development company (2015–present) · Author has 71 answers and 1.3M answer views · Updated 6y · +Related Is Tai Lopez a scam?

Originally Answered: Business: Is Tai Lopez a scam?

Tai Lopez isn't a scam and he can show you how to get rich quick. But his program doesn't work - it will make you poorer not richer.

How can that be? Well, I discovered Tai's secret and I'll share it with you for only $49.99. Bargain right?

Just joking, I'll actually share it with you for free! If you like my answer, an upvote will be payment enough!

The Tai Method to get rich quick!

Step 1

Build a self-help program. To do this you can copy parts from other successful self-help books and talks. Just Google "best self help books". Try to make your program relatively long but don't worry if it's boring. The quality of the program isn't particularly relevant.

It's like buying a treadmill for your house. Most people buy it imagining that they'll get fit. They use it a couple of time but when they realise how much effort it takes to get fit, they stop using it and leave it in the garage.

Your program is the same. You want to get people excited about the idea of becoming rich. You then sell them the program and when they realise that getting rich takes too much effort, they will stop using it and move on. But that doesn't matter to you because by that time, they will have paid you for the program!

Bonus point if they subscribed to your website and forgot to cancel the subscription! You could even add a bug which makes it harder for them to cancel the subscription.

Step 2

Pay someone to build you a website. It needs to be capable of taking subscription payments. You will use the website to advertise and sell your program.

Estimated cost - $3000 - $5000

Step 3

Make some videos. You should focus your videos on selling an aspirational message. Talk about how you were poor and how this system helped you to become rich. Talk about that for 9 minutes and talk about your program for one minute. Remember this is a sales pitch - you are selling the idea of "How to get rich quick" not actually explaining how to get rich.

To make the videos you should hire a mansion for a couple of days. You can rent the house using Airbnb [<https://www.airbnb.com/rooms/3801989>] - these houses cost several thousand dollars per night. In the video pretend that this is your house. Be super casual like having a huge house is no big deal.

View Photos

Yacov

Beautiful 1 bedroom apartment

Sunny Isles Beach, FL, United States

Entire home/flat

2 Guests

1 Bedroom

1 Bed

£2080 ⚡

Per Night

You should also rent a couple of super cars [https://www.luxuryauto.rentals/?gclid=Cj0KEQIAzZHEBRD0ivi9_pDzgYMBEiQAtvxt-Lnz5J7iIT52Vq351c2yb6trJ94XnMDoUNiFPupfkKoaAod58P8HAQ] for the garage. Bonus points if you film the car being delivered and pretend that you bought it!

Get a professional camera operator and hire some models and extras. Bonus points for hiring beautiful women!

You can also talk about things that make you seem rich. Talk about how you arrive via private jet. Talk about your other cars. Talk about how you're pissed the Rolex you pre-ordered is delayed. Talk about how you're going for a cruise on your yacht next week etc... With the expensive house these things will seem more believable and talking about them costs you nothing.

Overall, this will probably cost about $15k. However, by the end you'll have a whole series of videos that will make you look wealthy and successful.

If you run out of ideas, just look at Tai's videos to get some ideas. He's the master of making these types of video.

Step 4

Promote the videos on YouTube. You will be paying quite a bit to advertise your videos. But it's highly likely that you will make more from sales of your program than you will be spending in advertising costs.

Do a test run and check that the numbers add up. As long as your revenue from sales is higher than the advertising costs, you're in business. Keep upping the advertising budget and see the money roll in!

People will see your videos and think that your program made you wealthy! Whereas in fact, your program IS your product.

Does it work?

This IS how Tai makes his money so it definitely works.

The Tai scheme has the hallmarks of every successful business venture.

* WORK You have to put some work in to build the program, website and film the videos

* INVESTMENT You will have to invest around $30k in the house rental, models, camera operative, website and advertising

* RISK You will be risking your money. If your videos aren't good enough, you may lose money

Access this answer and support the author as a Quora+ subscriber

- ✓ Access all answers reserved by James Andrews for Quora+ subscribers
- ✓ Access exclusive answers from thousands more participating creators in Quora+

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

Start free trial

305.1K views · View upvotes · View 8 shares

2 upvotes, 1 refresh, 1 comment

2y

Related If you could order Doordash from around the world, what would you order?

This is a fantastic question! I am so glad you asked this =)

We would definitely have to utilize a drone service for my next few meals, but I would be extremely grateful to order some actual french baguettes with "farm cheese." A few chocolate croissants would also be conveniently nostalgic.

I would have to order some falafel and kanafa from Amman, Jordan.

Suddenly I am craving freshly churned pistachio ice cream from Greece...lol

Since I am a vegetarian I know that my list of goodies won't be so mainstream, but there are pizza places in Ljubljana, Slovakia, Geneva, Switzerland, and Quartzsite, Arizona (Silly Al's 🍕) that I would still dearly love to enjoy. I look forward to reading other stories in this thread!

618 views · View upvotes · View 1 share · Answer requested by Lana Sam

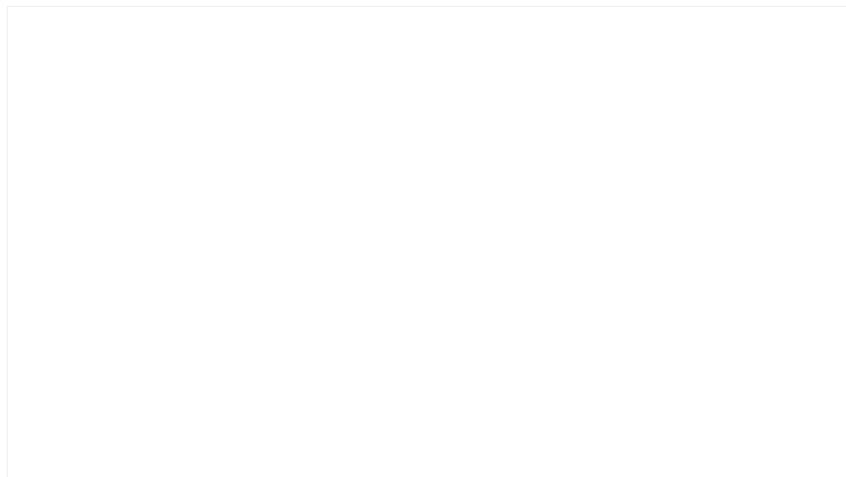

Nature World Today

Sponsored

How much do you know about the world?

These maps will reveal less known info.

Read More

271 upvotes

27 upvotes, 2 refresh, 1 comment

Related Is MLM worth trying?

Yes but

1. Do it part time if you're 30+, married & with children. Keep the job / current occupation / another source of income on.
2. Don't get swayed away by big picture & big success stories of negligible number of people.
3. Control your emotions- they play heavily on it.
4. If you get to the highest level in compensation plan in 2-3 yrs or earlier than great, else forget it.
5. Don't make unreasonable promises based on your upline's word.
6. It's a ruthless world - whatever some one says - you are responsible for your failure, success

- ✓ Access exclusive answers from thousands more participating creators in Quora+
- ✓ Browse ad-free and support creators

Start free trial

Learn more

12.4K views · View upvotes · View 2 shares

Related Angie's List: Why there is not a AngiesList to report bad and unscrupulous customers?

Originally Answered: Why there is not a AngiesList to report bad and unscrupulous customers?

We get many of our best customers from Angie's List but we have also run across customers that are "Bad" - We respond to the bad reviews and give our side of the story. This usually helps us quite a bit and the good clients definitely know when a review is written with malice.

Mark Hetherington, Wikipedia administrator for over a decade Author has 11.5K answers and 22.4M answer views · 5y Related Why doesn't Tai Lopez have a Wikipedia page?

I really ought to write up a post with a response to the "Why isn't there a Wikipedia article about X?" questions. The answer will always be one of two things.

- There is not enough independent and reliable source material to write an article about the subject, so an article is not possible.

Continue Reading ▾

Related Who is better, Angie's List or HomeAdvisor?

I'm unsure of who is better but Angi's list is an awful choice!

BUYER BEWARE

This was my first time using the service therefore I'm not a member and never will be after my experience.

Continue Reading ▾

Related Is chicros.com legit or a scam fashion store?

I have come across their ads many times. Here are a few red flags:

These Terms of Service and any separate agreements where by we provide you !
 ME&D LTD
 134 Centurion House London Road, Staines-Upon-Thames, Staines Surrey, United Kingdom, TW18 4AX

Search bar with magnifying glass icon

Continue Reading ▾

answer views · 9y

Related What benefits does a business get for signing up for something like Angie's List? Why is it worth it for them?

To be on Angie's List you must have positive referrals. If you have negative referrals they will show. You can enter the list, but you cannot leave. Your customers are the ones that determine your reputation.

So if you are on the list, and have more positive referrals than negative, this can bring you a lot

Continue Reading ▾

Related What are Germans' top three favorite activities to do in Germany during the weekend?

1. Complaining. That's the favorite activity of every German! For instance, complaining about the shops being closed, the neighbor playing piano or doing their laundry, the missing accuracy of the weather report, the delay of the DHL guy, and so on.
2. Going out with friends. Some go out for brunch, others go out for dinner, youngsters

Continue Reading ▾

Related What is Tai Lopez's actual net worth?

$5M it says on a quick Google search. I'd say that's about right.

It's not that much, since he really only has 1 source of income which is his YouTube channel and his coaching program attached.

The program is bullshit other than showing people it's possible. It's just an updated and hightech version of the book Think and Grow Rich.

Continue Reading ▾

views · 2y

Related I am 11 years old, but I don't know how to sing. Can I audition in YG Entertainment?

categories. If you have really good visuals and fit totally into Korean beauty standards then you might have chance, but still you need a bit talent.

Bye!!!

2

Related Is Angie's list reliable?

Yes. I think so. I had never used it before. I went on the website and it somehow lead to HomeAdvisor. I entered the info about my project and the site gave me a quote. 2 hours

Continue Reading ▾

4

answer views · 9y

Related How can Angie's List ever achieve profitability?

They could stop trying to act like a central hub of indirectly connected individuals and shift to a networking model on top of their central components. They could then use a bowling alley strategy to push beyond reviews of contractors and get into products. The potential to tornado their way to larger adoption and continuous utility rather than the kind of patchy "sometimes when I need something" model could get them there.

They would have to back away from the subscription model, though, as it's a barrier to growth.

3

4y

Related Is Colonial Penn a scam?

I don't know if "scam" is the right word. However, with any insurance, you are betting against someone who knows the odds. MOST people will pay the insurance company more than the insurance company pays them. If not, insurance companies would go broke. The service you should be buying is risk management, not "return on investment". I buy health insurance not

Continue Reading ▾

86

 2

Related How did Tai Lopez become so rich?

The following is an interview paraphrased by a source close to Tai Lopez found here:

"Tai was actually like every other kid before he became famous."

"He didn't actually drop out of college like he claims, otherwise he wouldn't have earned his CFP license – the examination requires a 4 year degree. He would tell me all the time how he thought about giving up on pursuing the degree, but he never did. I just think it adds to the story he tells to his audience." (sigh)

Continue Reading ▾

Related Is there a free Tai Lopez 67 steps download link?

Don't get it for free.

Not because Tai Lopez deserves to get even richer than he already is, but do it for your own sake.

You will always appreciate what you invest into.

The same will apply for when you start a business. You will notice that your customers or potential customers, will never appreciate the freebies. The same will happen with you, I can

Continue Reading ▾

4 3y

Related What businesses does Tai Lopez have or has he had? What businesses did he make money on?

Continue Reading ▾

Not that I've heard. But it does sometimes contain incorrect information. Check out all recommendations.

views · 3y

Why does every online business out there offering help have to be a scam?

Keeping it honest

Because Angie's List relies on its members' experiences, reviews aren't submitted anonymously.

Continue Reading ▾

2 6

No Angies list is not a scam. It is a simple service to help find legitimate contractors for services people cannot do themselves. I have used it many many times. Yes there are folks who are miserable people who just cannot be satisfied no matter what and they are the ones who

Related questions

- Do contractors prefer angie's list or home advisor?
- Can you trust contractors from HomeAdvisor or Angie's List?
- Is Angie's List Still Relevant?
- Why is Angie's List so terrible?
- Is Angie's list reliable?
- Who is better, Angie's List or HomeAdvisor?
- Is there a free site that is similar to Angie's List?
- How do people feel about Angie's List and Home Advisor?
- What are the alternatives to Angie's Llist?
- Which is better Homeadvisor, Angie's List, or Porch?
- Why is Angie's List losing money?
- Is Angie's List worth it for contractors?
- Angie's List: Why there is not a AngiesList to report bad and unscrupulous customers?
- How effective is Angie's List in picking the right person for the right job?
- As a local trades person or business, how well has Angie's List worked for you?